I Saw Me

I saw me,
Not quiet knowing what to say,
Walking slowly not to scare me.

I looked in me,
Seeing my infected soul,
And watching me carefully heal.

I met me,
Caressing my emotions,
Being my friend.

I fixed me,
Patched the scars and
Made me live again.

For Darrell Kitt

Sometimes I look in your eyes,
And see something receding,
Is it you,
Or am I being silly,
You seem so distant,
And out of reach,
As if you're leaving us,
Taking your soul and flying, ,
With your freedom,
To some unknown lands,
Soaring through the sky,
And leaving us only the shell of you.

Out of Reach

While sitting here I felt you,
Like the way one feels Christmas,
Or the coming of spring.
I couldn't escape you,
You were filling every corner,
And peering from beneath the dust.
I'll always love you,
Not the way lovers do,
But in a protective way.
Now I feel the tears,
You're slipping out of my reach,
And I wonder if you'll ever be back.

Hollywood

Breathren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such as one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith. (Gal. 6: 1 and 10.)

Our hearts were deeply saddened when word came early Sunday morning that our friend and neighbor, Mr. W. E. "Billy" Inge had suddenly passed away at Virginia Baptist Hospital. Billy was a good, kind and loving christian person. He was faithful and loyal to his church, family and friends. Hollywood Church and this community will suffer a great loss in his passing. Our sincere sympathy and love are with his family and love ones.

Those attending the Appomattox Baptist Association held with Midway and Providence Baptist Churches Thursday and Friday nights of last week from Hollywood Church were Rev. and Mrs. Dan Menser, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Webb, Miss Joyce Webb, Mrs. Madeline Inge, Mrs. Shirley Franklin and Miss Julia Wingfield.

The GA's of Hollywood Church and their leaders held their October meeting Wednesday night at the church.

We all are so glad to hear Mr. Monroe Webb is recovering nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Webb, Mrs. Walker Webb, Mrs. W. H. Wingfield and Rev. and Mrs. Dan Menser were among others visiting him last week at the hospital.

Our sympathy is extended to the family and loves ones of Mr. Ernest Goin who passed away Saturday.

Mrs. W. T. Covington recently spent some time in Farmville with her brother, Mr. Leslie Turns and family and sister, Mrs. Bennett Gilliam and family. Mrs. J. L. Torrence spent the week-end with Mrs. Covington, Mrs. Bob McWilliams visited in this home Friday.

Mr. L. H. Watson Jr. of Alexandria was on over night guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Watson Sr. Wednesday.

We are so glad to know Mr. Robert Coleman is feeling some better. Those visiting him and Mrs. Coleman last week were Mrs. Calvin Smith and son, Bobby, Mrs. J. L. Torrence, Mrs. James Conner, Mrs. Janie Chernault, Mrs. Wiley McCormick and daughter and granddaughter and Mr. Orie Milliner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coffey of Covington spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woodall and Lisa.

Mrs. Claude Hamlett of Hurt and mother, Mrs. Virgie Beasley visited Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Austin and family and Mrs. Mary Bagby Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Wingfield of Roanoke spent Thursday in Appomattox. They were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wingfield and family Thursday evening.

Mrs. Thomas Woodall called in the house of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goin and family Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Watkins Panton of Ashland, Ky. visited Mrs. Mary Bagby Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Iva Covington and Mrs. Emma Lennon spent Wednesday with Mrs. Bagby. Others calling in this home during the week were Mr. James Woodall, Mr. Roger Pillar, Mr. Jack Mayberry, Mrs. Kenneth Deaner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schampel, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watson, William and April Watson and Mr. John Goin.

The Primitive Quartet to be in Concert

When the Inspiring "Inspirations" come to Appomattox on October 25 for a concert at the Appomattox County High School, they will be accompanied by the "Primitive Quartet", a group you will surely want to hear. This quartet was No. 1 in 1978 and their singer, Mike Holcomb was voted No. 1 Bass singer in 1978, also. In 1979, Archie Watkins was named No. 1 Baratone in 1979.

This concert is being sponsored by the Appomattox Youth Association and tickets are now on sale at the Appomattox Drug Store and at the Dairy Queen. Get your tickets early, they just may sell out as they have done in the past.

Conference Planned On Protecting And Preserving Land

Those persons interested in protecting and preserving land for agricultural and forestry uses will have an opportunity to learn how to do so Wednesday and Thursday, December 5-6.

A conference, entitled "Protecting and Preserving Rural Land Uses–Issues, Problems, and Institutions," is scheduled to begin with registration at 11 a.m. December 5, and continue through 3 p.m. December 6.

The conference, sponsored by Virginia Tech's Extension Division, the Virginia Water Resources Center at Tech, the Tayloe Murphy Institute of the University of Virginia and the Piedmont Environmental Council, is designed for farmland owners, elected officials, planners, realtors, and other interested persons.

Thomas R. Plaut, of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas, will deliver the keynote address at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday. He recently completed a study for the National Science Foundation which examined the impacts of the nation's capacity to meet both domestic and export demands for food and fiber by 2000.

Four land-preservation institutions will be examined at three concurrent sessions, two on Wednesday and Thursday. Each participant may select three of the four topics presented during these sessions. The same subject will be discussed at each session. The four subjects are zoning and other regulatory authority, agricultural districts and use-taxation, transferable development rights, and development rights purchase.

Keith J. Buttleman of Richmond, environmental program supervisor for the Council on the Environment, will discuss the zoning topic while J. Paxton Marshall, Tech Extension specialist, and Richard L. Turner of Carrollton, a member of the Isle of Wight County Board of Supervisors, will talk on agricultural districts.

Fall Soil Sampling- -Why?

Soil testing is an important first step in a good crop fertilization and liming program. Most farmers that utilize this time-tested agronomic tool usually sample their soil in the late winter to early spring (January through March). However, there are several advantages to sampling in the fall which should be carefully considered in determining the best time to sample.

Perhaps the most important advantage is that the soil is dryer and the weather is more ideal for sampling in the fall than in the spring. One needs only to look back at the past three springs to confirm this. The colder than normal (and, in some cases, wetter than normal) soils produced a situation where one was unable to sample even if he wanted to because of frozen ground. Many farmers were left guessing as to their crop's fertilizer and lime needs which could be an expensive proposition if crop yields suffer or if excess unneeded fertilizer is applied. Fall sampling will eliminate this problem.

Another advantage to fall sampling is that it allows more time to plan a good fertilization and liming program. Spring is a hectic time of year on most farms and one is usually rushed in sampling, calculating fertilizer and lime needs for various fields, ordering the materials, and having them spread on time to avoid costly delays in planting. Sampling in the fall not only eliminates this chore for the spring but gives one the opportunity to apply his lime and part of his fertilizer (phosphate and potash) several months ahead of his busy planting season. Fall lime and fertilizer application itself offers additional benefits. Lime, when fall applied, has several months to react with the soil and correct soil acidity before the spring crops are planted. Also, compaction from spreader trucks is significantly reduced because soils are dryer and firmer.

The advantages to fall sampling are significant. Take the time to sample now and profit from it next spring! For more information, contact the Virginia Tech Extension Office.
